

MURAL ARTS OF ERIE COUNTY

“Art is something that makes you breathe
with a different kind of happiness.” – Anni Albers

We hope you enjoy the following list of murals located throughout Erie County. Explore by yourself or with family and friends. Make it an adventure in the pursuit of great art! Be inspired by the creativity of our local muralists and residents. Most of the murals are located outside, however, there are a few located inside buildings (specifics can be found in the mural descriptions). The majority of murals are not artificially lit, therefore we recommend viewing them during daylight hours.

MURAL: "Neighbor To Neighbor"

ARTIST: Ehren Knapp

ADDRESS: 1817 Poplar Street Erie PA 16502

"Neighbor To Neighbor" depicts community involvement in revitalizing the "Little Italy" neighborhood. It also describes the places and people of the area using the visual theme of historical photos to tell the story of community. It was painted using latex, and was applied directly to the wall.

MURAL: "Il Fin Loda L'Opera" (The End Praises the Work)

ARTIST: Ehren Knapp

ADDRESS: 1902 Cherry Street Erie PA 16502

The railway worker represents the hardworking Italian immigrant. The railway is symbolic of the neighborhood's ties to rail, with tracks making a southern boundary to the neighborhood. The title in Italian, translates to "The End Praises the Work". The mural is 'polytab'/acrylic.

MURAL: "And Let Us Dance"

ARTIST: Ehren Knapp

ADDRESS: 1603 Cherry Street Erie PA 16502

The mural depicts the diversity and energy expressed through dance. The title refers to a quote from Voltaire: "Let us read, and let us dance; the two amusements will never do any harm to the world".

MURAL: Arnone's Bakery

ARTIST: Steve Mik

ADDRESS: 564 West 18th Street Erie, PA 16502

This mural was commissioned by the Sisters of Saint Joseph to tell the story of the Little Italy neighborhood and its residents and shop owners.

MURAL: "John Orlando"

ARTIST: Ehren Knapp

ADDRESS: West 18th Street and Cherry Erie PA 16502

John Orlando was a respected businessman from the neighborhood who established his funeral home upon returning from service in World War II. The mural is a reminder of a heroic neighborhood son.

MURAL: "Nuova Aurora"

ARTIST: Kris Risto

ADDRESS: 1518 Walnut Street Erie PA 16502

This mural was commissioned by the club of the same name. They wanted to showcase the Italian immigrant experience - a father and son leaving a rural setting and moving into the neighborhood. They are welcomed by an Italian American woman, depicted as the 'Statue of Liberty'. The club wanted food to be a part of the mural, so a meal of pasta and wine, awaiting the new arrivals, was added to the mural. The scroll on the side is written in Italian, "Welcome to America - Land of Liberty and Opportunity".

MURAL: Sun Rays

ARTIST: Steve Mik

ADDRESS: 363 West 18th Street Erie PA 16502

MURAL: "Erie Industry"

ARTIST: Ehren Knapp

ADDRESS: 337 West 12 Street Erie PA 16501

The mural showcases business and industry on the 12th Street corridor. It was done in a Cubist style. Historic companies that are no longer in existence are showcased in the sky while thriving industries are in the foreground.

MURAL: Dovetail Gallery

ARTIST: Steve Mik and Tom Ski

ADDRESS: 352 East 18th Street Erie PA 16503

MURAL(S): (1) "Nepalese Dancers", (2) "Polish Dancers", (3) "Somali Dancers", and (4) "Bhutanese Dancers"

ARTIST(S): Tom Ferraro & Edward Grout

ADDRESSES: (1) 1215 Parade Street;
(2) 516 East 13 Street; (3) 14th and Ash;
(4) 759 East 12 Street

Members of the SNOOPS Neighborhood Watch Group worked with Tom and Ed and developed ideas through the "Looking Glass Art Project". Originally commissioned to be a mural welcoming visitors to the neighborhood at the rail viaduct on 15th and Ash, the project changed to include four murals placed throughout the neighborhood due to the inability to get permission from CSX to use the viaduct on 15th and Ash. The murals show the ethnic diversity of the neighborhood with images of native flags and dancers.

The "Looking Glass Art Project" is a program, developed by Tom Ferraro and Ed Grout in 2012 that is based on collaborative, community public art projects. The goal of the "Looking Glass Art Project" is not only to make public art, but to also help participants feel revitalized and empowered to create a legacy through public art. It also encourages ownership in the piece by a diverse group of participants.

MURAL: "Setting the Stage for Erie's Future"
ARTIST(S): Thomas Ferraro and Edward Grout
ADDRESS: Erie Playhouse Rehearsal Hall 1154
 East 12th Street Erie PA 16503

This mural was a collaborative community project led by Tom and Ed using strategies developed by their "Looking Glass Art Project". They worked with students at Erie County Technical School to develop, design and help paint. The mural was completed in their studio with the help of professional artists, Barbara Crone, Ashley Pastore and Deidre Keane.

MURAL: YMCA

ARTIST: Todd Scalise

ADDRESS: 31 West 10th Street Erie PA 16501

The Y worked with Todd Scalise to create the mural to playfully represent the essence of the YMCA. Todd toured the Ys and met several times with Y leadership to capture the organization's focus of youth development, healthy living and social responsibility. The Y also asked the artist to represent the Y's brand and community presence.

MURAL: "Ribbons of Life, Love and Hope"

ARTIST(S): Tom Ferraro & Edward Grout

ADDRESS: 815 Plum Street Erie PA 16502

Part of The Looking Glass Art Project. Residents developed imagery that focused on the rich history and present-day use of the Villa Maria building complex, including a former convent, elementary school, high school and college. The five existent windows are connected by a painted ribbon of life that symbolizes the residents' interaction with their neighborhood. The mosaic centerpiece depicts a white lily on a staff that represents the purity of St. Joseph and his role as protector of the apartment complex and the surrounding neighborhood.

MURAL: "Seasons of Life's Migration"

ARTIST(S): Thomas Ferraro and Edward Grout

ADDRESS: 517 Maryland Avenue Erie PA 16505

Designed and produced in collaboration with residents of St. Joseph Apartments, this mural is another "Looking Glass Art Project". The mural depicts the history of the building as an orphanage to senior living. Trees filled with birds show seasonal changes of life from Spring (youth) to Summer/Fall (maturity) to Winter (seniors). It is the cycle of life.

MURAL: "Flotsam"

ARTIST(S): SatOne

ADDRESS: 2019 Dobbins Landing (Foot of State Street/Bicentennial Tower 2nd level observation platform) Erie PA 16507

SatOne is an international street artist living in Germany. He has completed projects in Austria, Australia, Brazil, Canada, France, Germany, India, Italy, and Norway. Erie was the second city in the United States to have one of his murals on exhibit. "Flotsam" was painted in 2019 through a collaboration between Erie Arts & Culture and the Erie-Western PA Port Authority. Erie-based artist Ceasar Westbrook served as a paid apprentice for the project. Funding for the project was provided in part by the Erie Community Foundation. The mural measures approximately 12,000 square feet, making it the largest pieces of public art in Erie, if not the state of Pennsylvania. Curiosity is a driving force in SatOne's life. The artist is drawn to engage with people and environments that offer unique stories. It leads to the discovery of situations that others may overlook in their daily routine. This is why SatOne finds the definition of flotsam so intriguing - people or items that have been rejected or regarded as worthless. In traditional maritime culture, this referred to the wreckage of a ship and what debris may eventually wash ashore. But, as people, he thinks all of us, at one point in our lives, experience a momentary sensation of feeling cast aside and unvalued. Within this image the viewer may discover abstract objects that were carried to the shoreline by the momentum of the spuming waves. The triangular element points across jetted ripples in the water to the wreckage from which it came. And in that, we find the story of a treasure waiting on the sand to be reclaimed by those who are curious. Once discovered, how will this item be re-imagined and what new purposes may it serve?

MURAL: "Erie"

ARTIST(S) Zedz

ADDRESS: Former Erie General Tire 121
West 12th Street Erie PA 16501

COMPLETED: 2019

Zedz is an international street artist living in the Netherlands. He works as an independent artist/designer and has completed mural projects all over the world. "Erie" was painted in 2019 through a project facilitated by Erie Arts & Culture and funded by the Zaphiris Family Limited Partnership. It is the first mural that Zedz painted in the United States. Erie-based artists Marquis Wallace and Ashley Pastore served as paid apprentices for the project. The mural wraps around 3 sides of the building located on West 12th Street just as you transition from Erie's industrial corridor into downtown. Zedz started painting graffiti in the 1980s. His work combines his interests in architecture, design, and street art. Through his work, he examines the ways that public design influences physical experiences.

MURAL: "RWG "

ARTIST(S): Zedz

ADDRESS: Erie Bayfront Parkway Overpass Erie PA

COMPLETED: 2019

Zedz is an international street artist living in the Netherlands. He works as an independent artist/designer and has completed mural projects all over the world. "RWG" was painted in 2019 through a project facilitated by Erie Arts & Culture, with permission obtained from the Erie-Western PA Port Authority and Pennsylvania Department of Transportation. These "Transformer" inspired robots are a calling card that Zedz leaves behind in every city that he visits. Zedz started painting graffiti in the 1980s. His work combines his interests in architecture, design, and street art. Through his work, he examines the ways that public design influences physical experiences.

MURAL: "Rudy"

ARTIST(S): Evoca1

ADDRESS: Methodist Towers (East side of building) 160 West 8th Street Erie PA 16501

COMPLETED: 2019

Originally from the Dominican Republic, but now living in South Florida, Evoca1 is a self-taught artist. His work is figurative and flawlessly merges art and humanity into a single creation. As an artist, he observes human behaviors and social struggles and translates that into emotionally provocative murals and sculptures. Evoca1 has painted murals across the globe, including Abud Dhabi, Australia, Austria, France, Guam, and Peru. For every mural he creates, Evoca1 focuses on a person local to the community where he is painting. For his Erie mural, Evoca1 selected Rudy Daniels, a resident of Methodist Towers. Corey Thompson and Deirdre Keane. This 9-story mural was facilitated by Erie Arts &

Culture with funding provided by Brian and Linda Graff.

MURAL: "About the Community"

ARTIST(S): Manolo Mesa

ADDRESS: ROG's Rigging 327 East 18th Street Erie PA 16503

COMPLETED: 2019

Manolo Mesa is a Spanish artist living and working in the port city of El Puerto de Santa Maria. His paintings are a metaphor for life, encounter, and loneliness. An iconography of the absurdity of existence which goes beyond the physical. Through his work, he seeks to intertwine the past with the present. A street-art "poet", curious about people and the world, Manolo believes that one's attitude and resilience create one's identity. "About the Community" was commissioned in 2019 by the Sisters of St. Joseph Neighborhood Network with support of PNC. The mural features members of the adjacent neighborhood, showcasing Erie's diversity and unity.
